Centerville beautification committee announces holiday lighting contest winners

City Beautiful Commission, a volunteer board with the City of Centerville, has recognized seven Centerville homes and one business for showcasing spectacular lighting displays. Commission members drove the streets of Centerville looking for lighting, display and festive decorations that enhanced the property. The winners were announced at the December 18, 2017 City Council meeting. Receiving Residential Lighting awards were: Sandra Budde, 1860 Weathered Wood Trail; Kim Weimer, 6005 Oak Hill Lane; Zoe and Kenneth Soucy, 1900 Ghiradelli Circle; Derrick Hamm and Kelly Tierney, 235 Weller Avenue; Bryan and Denise Beismann, 185 Goldengate Drive; Michael Kraft, 9901 Redbarn Trail and Paolo Roncallo, 1722 Heritage Lake Drive. Fairhaven Church, 637 East Whipp Road received the award for Business Pride.

According to Sue Jessee, commission chair, the city is divided into seven zones, with a winner in each area. Jessee said the committee reviews all nominations. “Many winners are often nominated by neighbors or folks driving or walking by the home. We appreciate the community’s participation in letting us know about the wonderful displays.”

In addition to the Lighting Awards, the commission recognizes outstanding yard maintenance and landscaping with summer beautification awards.

City Beautiful Commission is looking for members. Green thumbs are not required, only a desire to keep Centerville a beautiful place to live. Applications are available at centervilleohio.gov or by calling 433-7151.
