CENTERVILLE MAGAZINE

We propose a 32-page, 5"x7" magazine printed in one color on colored stock, published twice a year. The purpose of the magazine will be to promote Centerville in general and its artists, writers and photographers in particular. Since the magazine will be published by the Fine Arts Commission, the emphasis of the magazine will be literary, rather than commercial, as most Chamber of Commerce magazines are.

An initial print order for 5,000 copies is planned. The magazines will be sold in area stores and distributed free of charge by Welcome Wagon and similar organizations.

The magazine will be titled "Centerville Life."

Sample content: Photographic spread of Centerville by a local photographer, profile of Phil Donohue, article by Erma Bombeck (former resident), article featuring the Old Fashioned Days Festival, short history of Centerville, poems and stories by local writers, etc.
